Respected Editor and the respected reviewers. I am much honored for your time that you have given to our article. With regards to the revision, the reviewers and the editors have asked to revise English language which was marked as Minor polishing.

I have revised the English language with help of one of my colleagues who is a Native American and all the changes made are in red highlights. A revised version has been uploaded with the English Language revision certificate.

Please do let me know if any further changes are required.
