The manuscript has been improved according to the suggestions of reviewers:

1 Format has been updated

The format of the new version of the manuscript is correct

2 Revision has been made according to the suggestions of the reviewer

(1) Changes suggested by reviewer have been include the following reviewer comments: This is an interesting manuscript which updates the current knowledge on diabetic retinopathy screening by telemedicine. Authors review the different techniques, the problems, and the inclusion of different professional figures in the telemedicine for diabetic retinopathy care. They conclude in saying that telemedicine is extremely useful in ophthalmology and has enormous potential, but a guideline for government regulations is essential to be able to increase communication among professionals, in order to improve public health. I have neither major nor minor revisions to propose, except a minor revision of the English language.

Responses: Thanks to the reviewer by time dedicated to review the manuscript, and for the commentaries. The English language of the first version, have been revised by Prof. Phyl Hoddy , professor of English in University Rovira&Virgili. The final version is attached at the end of present text.
