

Response to Editors and Reviewers Letter

Dear Editors and Reviewers:

Thank you for the comments concerning our manuscript entitled “Intermittent melena and refractory anemia due to jejunal cavernous lymphangioma: An unusual case presentation” (Manuscript ID: 92123). These comments were valuable and very helpful for improving our manuscript to better demonstrate the significance of our work. We have revised the manuscript and add references after the sentences containing ideas taken from other studies in our revised manuscript. English language copy editing has been revised by American Journal Experts, a professional institution as recommended. We used the extensive service and upload the editing certificate. All co-authors have completed the conflict of interest forms. We appreciate the work of the Editors and Reviewers and hope that the revisions will meet your approval. We will be glad to respond to any further comments that you may have.

Yours sincerely,

Professor Xuguang Li, MD, PhD
