5 Recommendation: Conditional acceptance.

My co-authors and I thank you for your attention to our manuscript.

My co-authors and I send the Editorial, by invitation, relating to the article by Zhang and collaborators entitled "Nomogram for predicting early complications after distal gastrectomy", accepted for publication in the World Journal of Gastrointestinal Surgery. My co-authors and I used a title for our Editorial that was different from that of Zhang and co-authors' article. It seemed right to us to use a different title since our manuscript is an Editorial and not a letter-to-the-Editor type comment.

My coauthors and I declare that we participated in the design, execution, and analysis of the paper and that we have seen and approved the final version. We also declare that we have no conflict of interest in connection with this paper, other than any noted in the covering letter to the editor. All the authors and all individuals mentioned in this paper agree with the contents of this manuscript or the contents that are specifically attributed to them.

None of the authors of the study have had or have at the present time any conflict of interest with this study. Moreover, none of the authors of the study have received subsidies from Public Bodies or from any other sources for the execution of this study.

We declare that none of the material in this manuscript has been published previously and none is currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. This includes symposia, proceedings, transactions, books, articles published by invitation, and preliminary publications of any kind. We also declare that the research reported in the paper was undertaken in compliance with the Helsinki Declaration and the International Principles governing research on animals.

The manuscript was proofread by Dr. Neill J Adams, a native English speaker. The manuscript was written in English by Dr. Maria Michela Chiarello, who worked for two years in Edinburgh. For this reason, my co-authors and I did not submit the manuscript to an external proofreading service.

Submission of the manuscript means that the paper is original and has not yet been totally or partially published and, if accepted, will not be published elsewhere either wholly or in part. The Authors agree to transfer the ownership of copyright to the journal in the event the manuscript is published.

Thank You very much for your interest, we look forward to your reply.

Sincerely,

Giuseppe Brisinda
