

REVIEWER CODE: 02454185

1. The Conclusion part in the Abstract section was reorganized and rewritten .
 2. The fact that CRP is a non-specific inflammatory marker was placed to the Introduction part in accordance with the reference you have suggested.
 3. Literature review was made again and it was seen again that there was not any previous publication regarding especially that CRP is a prognostic factor in GEP-NETs .
- 4-8 The arrangements and additions regarding statistics were added to the Material and Method section.

REVIEWER CODE: 00068723

The article was reviewed and reorganized in accordance with suggestions. For English, help was received from a professional editing firm. The patients who died during the post-diagnosis 5-year follow up period were defined as 'no' and the ones who live as 'yes' in table 1. The Ethics Committee resolution was added to the Material and Method section. Mitotic count and Ki-67 analysis methods were added to the article in more detail. The article has been written accompanied with the most recent publications accessible in PubMed. Arrangements about P values were made. The Discussion part was shortened in a proper manner.

REVIEWER CODE: 02567564

The information you have suggested regarding CRP were added to the Discussion part in accordance with the publication you have recommended and was added to the references. The incoherencies in the Abstract part were corrected. For the entire text, help was obtained for English from a professional editing firm. In the Discussion part the prognostic importance of CRP was more featured.