

ESPS Manuscript No: 18287

Dear reviewers:

First of all, I am very glad you have given our manuscript excellent suggestion. We have tried our best to revise it. And the change of the manuscript was following your comments:

1. According to your opinion about the mechanisms mediated by microRNA-7, we have added some detailed information in the manuscript. And by reference to the figures respectively, we hope the whole story has been told appropriately.
2. For the abstract, we added several highlights such as how miR-7 targets in different digestive system malignancy or involves in inflammatory diseases. In this way, we hope it has been more comprehensive and informative as your suggestion.
3. On the other hand, we did made some mistakes in previous manuscript unforgivable. And thanks for your patience to mention them. Then the English language manuscript also has been improved by some experts.
4. According to your specific comments for the figures and references, we have all revised to the right form, and added some detailed information for the specific genes in order to make the manuscript understood more easily.

All in all, thanks for your excellent comments for our manuscript, and we hope this revised one satisfies you and the readers.

Best wishes.

Yours sincerely
Wan-qun Chen