“SmartFlareTM is a reliable method for assessing mRNA expression in single neural stem cells”

by A. Diana, M.D. Setzu, Z. Kokaia, R. Nat, C. Maxia, D. Murtas

Dear Editors,

on behalf of all authors, I would like to thank you and the Reviewer for giving us the chance to improve our manuscript by means of your valuable suggestions.

The manuscript has been carefully revised according to the comments by the Reviewer, the Science Editor, and the Company Editor-in-Chief, adhering to the Peer-Review Report and the outlined “Steps for submitting the revised manuscript”. Moreover, moderate changes to the text in terms of language and grammar have been carried out according to the revision of the manuscript by the English Language Editing Company. Changes in the revised version are highlighted in red, with the corrected terms/sentences in place of the previous ones. The “Article Highlights” section has been included in the manuscript. Moreover, decomposable Figures have been organized into a single powerpoint file.

The format of the revised manuscript has been updated in accordance with the Baishideng Publishing Group “Guidelines and requirements for manuscript revision” and “Format for manuscript revision” for Basic study.

The authors’ point-by-point responses to the comments/suggestions raised by Reviewer #1 and the Editors are provided below:

Reviewer #1:

- Title. Does the title reflect the main subject/hypothesis of the manuscript? No.

I only have a minor comment on the title of this manuscript. I think the title “SmartFlareTM is a reliable method for assessing mRNA expression in single neural stem cells” may be more appropriate for this study.

Authors’ response:

- We thank the Reviewer for the positive comments about the manuscript and the valuable suggestion. The title has been modified accordingly.

Science Editor:
