

We would like to thank the editor and reviewers for the very helpful comments on our manuscript again. Please see our responses to the comments below.

World Journal of Clinical Oncology, ESPS Manuscript NO: 30834

Comments To Authors:

The overall structure of the manuscript is complete. The scientific question proposed in the manuscript were the results achieved with intraarterial hepatic chemotherapy in 36 patients suffering from unresectable and therapy-resistant advanced and hepatically metastasized CRC and BC.

Tumor response, survival and at which time the maximum therapy effect can be seen. The manuscript would be interesting enough to warrant readers' attention. The manuscript provides adequate details of methods to allow a reader to repeat the research. The source of the data is presented is reliable.

There is importance of the paper and the significance of the contents; Presentation and readability of the manuscript is good.

Conclusions of the manuscript are clearly presented. The manuscript cite all important, relevant and timely references. There is not any indication of academic misconduct in the manuscript. The manuscript doesn't describe any important new methods, problems in or directions of research The title of the manuscript contain key words and the title is interesting enough to attract reader's attention. The topic of the manuscript fall within the scope of WJCO. The language of the manuscript reach the standard of publishing. Weaknesses of the manuscript that it is retrospective study. The content of the manuscript has value for publication, and it is concise clear comprehensive and convincing

Response: We would like to thank you for your suggestions and encouraging words again – thank you very much!!