Sir,

Ref.: Revision of Manuscript NO: 62468 World Journal of Clinical Pediatrics

Correlation of Cardiac Troponin T levels with inotrope requirement, hypoxic-ischemic encephalopathy, and survival in asphyxiated neonates

Many thanks for the review and constructive suggestions. We now revised the manuscript taking into consideration reviewers' queries and Editor's comments. The revised text is mentioned in red fonts for easy identification. A point by point reply to reviewer queries is also attached with this letter. Language editing is taken from Grammarly Software using American English. We hope the revision is acceptable. Please suggest any further clarifications are needed. Hoping to hear from you soon

Yours sincerely

Reviewer's Comments

Excellent paper on cardiac involvement in asphyxiated newborns. Would be interesting if you could analyze the values of CTnT during therapeutic hypothermia and its changes as a prognostic marker of final outcome

Thanks for encouraging words. We agree with your suggestion but unfortunately complete data on therapeutic hypothermia is not captured during this study. This issue we will consider in our next study. We write this as limitation in the present study.
