We are grateful for review and correction has been done as suggested.

Reply to reviewer 1:

- 1- There is variable prevalence of prediabetes depending on definition (ADA-2010 definition vs. WHO definition) and parameter used (fasting glucose / oral glucose tolerance test / glycosylated hemoglobin). I have explained it further in introduction.
- 2- I have included 2 studies suggested by reviewer and as a result the references number has gone up to 210.
- 3- I have re-ordered quoted studies in Table in chronological order with oldest studies on the top and new at the end.
- 4- I have removed words /sentences as much as possible from the table and word count has reduced as compared to before

Reply to reviewer 2:

We are thankful to reviewer 2 for reviewing our article. No suggestions were made by reviewer.

One of the co-authors who is UK trained nephrologist reviewed the article for spelling and grammar errors. We rechecked through Microsoft words for spelling and grammar errors.

I look forward to proceed further with the article.
