Dear Ms. Carr,

We respectfully request to republish Figure 1 on page 3 of the publication entitled, "Projections of Education Statistics to 2028 (abbrev.)." This figure shows the actual and projected enrollment of US students in elementary and secondary schools from Fall 2003 through 2028. The figure is attached to this email. This report is produced by NCES with taxpayer money.

We are a group of medical researchers with an accepted manuscript that will be published in a pediatrics journal. Having retired from the U.S. government, two of us are under the impression that we can legally re-publish or use content created by U.S. government staff that is available and distributed by the U.S. government. Are we correct in our impression?

We need your official permission via a response to this email.

Please provide a response to this email as soon as possible as time is critical.

We very much appreciate your work and look forward to future collaborations. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call me. I can be reached at 808-345-6863.

Thank you.

Respectfully yours,

Dr. Renee Dufault

Hello Dr. Dufault,

Yes, all of our work is public and can be published with appropriate citation.

Please note that while no new figure has been produced with this information, new data are available in these tables:

https://nces.ed.gov/programs/digest/d21/tables/dt21_105.30.asp

https://nces.ed.gov/programs/digest/d22/tables/dt22_203.10.asp

If you use the tables, the suggestion citation is:

National Center for Education Statistics. (2022) Table XXX.XX. Number of educational institutions, by level and control of institution: 2009–10 through 2019–20 [Data table]. In Digest of education statistics. U.S. Department of Education, Institute of Education Sciences. Retrieved December 20, 2022, from [URL].

If you use the figure from the report, there is a suggested citation at the beginning of the report.

Thanks,

Véronique
