Re: Certification of manuscript editing

To Whom It May Concern:

The purpose of this letter is to certify that Viviane Amorim received professional English language editing services from our company, Write Science Right™, for a paper titled “Can gadoxetic acid-enhanced magnetic resonance imaging be used to avoid liver biopsy in patients with nonalcoholic fatty liver disease?” (order 200511-2). The work was completed by a native English-speaking American biomedical scientist and professional scientific editor.

All grammatical/syntactical errors and awkward verbiage have been revised to make the paper ready to submit for publication review. Assuming the author has accepted our advice and that the paper has not been modified subsequently, it should be ready to review. Feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Best regards,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'Ann Power Smith', with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.
