

Dear Editorial Team,

Re: English Language Statement

Manuscript NO: 74623

The Editorial Team has requested that I provide an English Language Certificate issued by a professional English language editing company.

I would like to request an appraisal of my revised manuscript prior to commissioning a third-party English language editing company.

I am a native English speaker, and have previously been commended on my adept scientific writing style. I accept the critique that the language quality in my recent submission fell below an acceptable standard. I have spent some time trying to re-shape the language in my article, and would request a re-submission without requirement for 3rd party editing.

Thanks in advance for your consideration in this matter.

Kind Regards,

Michael Braude
